

S_No_	110
Vernacular	सुंदरी (2)
Scientific	Heritiera fomes
Family	Malvaceae
Remarks_	सुंदरवन का नाम इसी वृक्ष पर रखा गया है (Sundarban is derived from the sundari tree)
Latitude	23.3571
Longitude	85.2442
Plant_Orig	Native

Sundari

Heritiera fomes, Banks

F- Malvaceae

Herieteria fomes is a medium size evergreen tree species of mangrove belongs to family Malvaceae. Commonly known as Sunder, Sundari or pinlekanzo. The leaves are leathery and elliptical tend to be clustered at the end of the twigs. The pink and white colour bell shaped flower growing maximum node of the branches. Centre of the flowers are red in colour. The fruits carpels are unique shape. Bark is light grey in colour with vertical fissured. The roots are shallow and spreading and send up pneumatophors. It is dominant mangrove tree species of Sundarban of India and Bangladesh. One of the important timber species of mangrove plants.