

S_No_	141
Vernacular	नीम पुतली
Scientific	Mallotus tetracoccus
Family	Euphorbiaceae
Remarks_	त्वचा रोगों की पारंपरिक दवा (Traditional medicine for skin diseases)
Latitude	23.3556
Longitude	85.2442
Plant_Orig

Rusty Kamala

Mallotus tetracoccus (Roxb.) Kurtz.

F- Euphorbiaceae

Mallotus tetracoccus is medium size tree. The bark is grey smooth and fibrous. The young branches are rusty or coppery-white appearance. The leaves are dark heart shaped, simple, alternate, and spirally arranged on the twigs with long petiole. The species is unisexual, so male and female flowers bloom on different individual trees grow in terminal branching. The fruits are roundish capsule covered with hairs. Seeds are blackish brown. Leaves are used in sericulture. The plant is known for medicinal purposes in Ayurvedic system of medicine.