

S_No_	153
Vernacular	काँफी (Coffee)
Scientific	Coffea arabica
Family	Rubiaceae
Remarks_	बीजों से पेय पदार्थ (Beverage from seeds)
Latitude	23.3551
Longitude	85.243
Plant_Orig

Coffee

Coffea arabica L.

F- Rubiaceae

Coffea arabica is commonly used as an understory shrub. The species is widely naturalized in area. It is native to Africa, America and South East Asia like India and China. The bark is dark black and rough. Fragrance white flower is grown in axillary in clusters. The seeds contain in a drupe, initially green turn red to purple when matured containing two seeds. After roasting matured coffee beans are powdered and used in different beverages like cold coffee, hot coffee, etc. It's easily propagated through seeds. It is also used as a skin care and cosmetic items.