

S_No_	6
Vernacular	चरिँजी / पयिल (Cuddapah Almond)
Scientific	Buchanania cochinchinensis
Family	Anacardiaceae
Remarks_	आदवासियों की आजीविका; बीज को चरिँजी कहते हैं (Livelihood for tribals; kernel is known as Chironji)
Latitude	23.3578
Longitude	85.2441
Plant_Orig	Native

Cuddapah Almond Buchanania cochinchinensis (Lour.) M. R. Almeida F- Anacardiaceae
Small size deciduous tree with brownish grey rough bark. Leaves are alternate, elliptic with entire margin and hairy below. Flowers are greenish white with five petals grown in tip of the branches in cluster. Fruits are round, initially green turned purple to black when ripe. Drupes are edible and seeds are used as a dry fruit. Seeds are use in different system of medicine. It is one of the important Sal (Shorea robusta) associated tree. It is one of the important livelihood support species for rural people.